MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS FOR THE YEAR 2013-14

The following operating and financial review is intended to convey the management’s perspective on the financial condition and on the operating performance of the Company during the fiscal year 2013-14. Please read the discussion in conjunction with the Company’s financial statements and notes.

MACROECONOMIC DISCUSSION AND INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

The Global Economy

The year ending June 2014 was a more encouraging period than the year before but not without lingering concerns. In the advanced economies, the legacies of the pre-crisis boom and the subsequent economic slowdown, including high private and public debt still cast a shadow on the recovery. The IMF forecasts global economic growth of 2.6% in 2014, 10 bps above the growth in 2013. Forecasted GDP growth in emerging markets and developing countries is placed at 4.4% in 2014, 30 bps less than the growth in 2013. Most of the key emerging / developing economies, except India and Mexico are expected to report lower growth in 2014, vis-à-vis in 2013. (Source: IMF)

The Indian Economy

Fiscal year 2013-14 has been a challenging year with subdued economic growth, as a result of higher inflation, higher interest rates, lower industrial growth and lower investments in the country, along with the poor global economic conditions. However, post a stable government at the centre, business confidence has risen with a pick-up in foreign investment. The WPI inflation measure has moderated in the recent months and stood at 5.4% for the month of June 2014. Further, the rupee has also achieved stability in recent months driven primarily by strong capital inflows and firm measures by the RBI. India’s GDP growth forecast has consequently been raised by IMF to 5.6% for FY2015, as compared to a growth of 5.0% in FY2014.

The Infrastructure Sector

Increasing investments in India have brought India to the epicentre of infrastructure creation in the world. Going ahead, the proposition of metro rail and rapid metro transit network in 19 cities across the country, expanding telecom network with a consumer base of 946.4 million, and the push to infrastructural reforms by the new government, all present a significant opportunity for growth.

Roads/bridges Projects Value in India ($ bn)

The Power Sector

Greater scale of electrification, increasing household incomes and a fast growing economy have all been pushing the demand for electricity in the upward direction. Per capita electricity consumption has reached 940 kWh from 717 kWh in 2007-08. Considering that this consumption is much lower than China’s per capita consumption of 4,000 kWh and the developed countries’ average of 15,000 kWh, it is expected that India will continue to see a growth in demand for electricity.

Significant supply addition over the last few years has taken place in India. Almost 43% of the XII Plan target of 88,537 MW (excluding Renewable Energy Sources) has been achieved in the first two years.

More demand for power and greater investments in power plants and ancillary industries are leading to a greater demand for fabricated structures.

Regulatory Environment

Steel has inherent advantages by being durable, reusable and recyclable. CO₂ and other emissions in steel production are therefore offset by reductions in emissions through the life cycle of steel products achieved through effective product development & design and through recycling at end of life.

In March 2012, new set of emissions and effluent standards applicable to iron and steel facilities were notified by the Government of India. AIML has endeavoured to comply with all regulations applicable to the Steel Industry and has strived to adopt industry best practices, modern technologies and innovation to stay ahead of the curve.

Your Company continues to examine better ways to increase process efficiency, reduce energy consumption and increase scrap utilization, all of which help to keep CO₂ emissions at the minimum.

Steel Fabrication Industry

Fabrication applies to the building of machines, structures and other equipment, by cutting, shaping and assembling components made from raw materials by using various mechanical processes such as welding, soldering, forging, brazing, forming, pressing, bending and stress removal. In this way, the Steel Fabrication Industry proves to be an essential part of the Steel Industry value chain as it produces minute spare parts of larger heavy machinery and equipment, which cannot be manufactured simultaneously with the manufacturing of the heavy machines. This is a highly fragmented and labour intensive sector with medium & small scale industries heavily dependent on job work.

Most of the Structural Steel Fabrications can be divided into three categories:

- 1) Hot Rolled Long Products like continuously produced standard size Beams and Bars from Steel Rolling Mills.
- 2) Pre-designed and Pre-engineered Buildings for pre-fabrication and then assembly at site. Steel pre-fabrication can be outsourced to a fabrication shop or carried out at site.
- 3) Large or Custom size Plate Fabricated Beams, Boxes, Columns and Girders, which cannot be formed by continuous process or hot rolling. These plate welded fabrications are extensively used by architects and design engineers for rapid and economic construction of bridges, flyovers, multi-storied buildings, stadiums, airports, metro rail projects.

Structural steel fabrication can be carried out in shop or at the construction site. Fabrication of steelwork carried out in shops is precise and of assured quality, whereas field fabrication is comparatively inferior in quality.

In India, construction site fabrication is most common even in large projects due to inexpensive field labour, high cost of transportation, difficulty in the transportation of large members, higher excise duty on products from shop. Beneficial taxation for site work is a major financial incentive for site fabrication.

Large customers like power plants, steel plants and EPC companies engaged in bridge construction and oil & gas are also moving towards plant fabricated structures. This transition has been due to the following factors:

- Higher accuracy of fabrication in structures made at the factory (plant)
- An increasing preference towards bolted connection has led to a huge requirement of hole-drilling, which can be done better at the factory
- Better efficiency in producing repeated elements at the plant as compared to at the customer
- Better planning and a focused approach for completing projects at the plant
- Stricter pollution control norms for blasting and painting at customer sites as compared to the factory
- Increasingly better highway and transportation facilities have made it easier to transport plant made structures to the site

Since the demand for steel fabrication sector comes from the infrastructure sector, the growth of fabrication industry largely depends on the overall industrial scenario including the demand for power, roads/bridges and transport.

OPERATIONAL PERFORMANCE

During the year under review, the Company reported revenues of Rs. 52,567.40 lacs compared 17,203.22 lacs in the same period last year. This significant growth was primarily driven by large orders from power sector and bridge sector and successful execution by your company.

EBITDA for the year under review was Rs. 5,859.76 lacs on a margin of 11.1%. This robust growth was on account of the higher revenues, improvement in operation efficiencies and extensive cost control measures at the manufacturing stage. Over the period, several processes have been stabilized and better throughput has been achieved. Addition of job work into the portfolio and higher efficiency in conversion of raw materials into finished goods have also led to growth. Contribution from the addition of assembly, erection and launching services for the bridge sector has increased. However, the margin for the year was marginally impacted due to increase in raw material costs (including steel prices) and other inflationary pressures. Better negotiation with the steel suppliers has supported margins to some extent.

FY2014 Net Income was Rs. 99.14 lacs compared to Rs. 29.88 lacs in FY2013. This growth was driven by higher operating profit on account of large orders from the power and bridge sectors.

OPPORTUNITIES AND RISKS & CONCERNS

Opportunities

With a renewed thrust on reforms post the election of the new Central Government, and the announcement of 'Smart Cities', the need for more roads, bridges, metro and rail lines is certain thereby opening up numerous opportunities for AIML.

With the announcement of measures such as the cancellation and the subsequent e-auctioning of coal blocks in the country, coal will start to be available more easily in the medium to long term. This presents significant opportunities in the power sector for power generators and subsequently power equipment manufacturers and ancillaries.

AIML, with its state of the art manufacturing facility, will bridge the demand supply gap with its specialized knowledge and technical base required for manufacture and supply of heavy structures and equipment related to power plants, roads & railways, bridges, steel plant and oil and gas sector.

The Company has positioned itself in the market as premium supplier for bridges & power sector and won orders with major power & infra companies in the recent past already.

Risks & Concerns

Your Company is currently addressing the following risks and concerns through appropriate risk mitigation measures and strategies

- 1) Economic uncertainty: The steel industry is subject to cyclical swings arising from factors such as excess capacity, and demand & supply imbalances. Unfavourable economic conditions globally, overcapacities in steel industry, low infrastructure activity and weak business sentiment continue to impact overall steel consumption. In India, however, structural reforms and improving confidence are likely to support forecasted steel demand of 3.4% in 2014 vs. 1.8% in 2013
- 2) Price volatility resulting from demand uncertainty: The positive momentum in global steel demand seen in the second half of 2013 abated in 2014 with weaker than expected performance in the emerging and developing economies, resulting in a lower steel demand growth forecast from the World Steel Association
- 3) Direction of interest rates: The US interest rates increase expected in 2015 is likely to impact global capital flows with a possible impact on demand in key infrastructure related sectors, creating instability in the vulnerable emerging markets

INDUSTRY OUTLOOK

In fiscal year 2014-15, the advanced economies are likely to come out stronger while growth could remain largely subdued in emerging and developing economies. Concerns on the changing demographic mix and the forecasted lower growth trajectory in China are expected to put downward pressure on commodity prices, including steel and its raw materials. The economic outlook in Europe is strengthening and the US economy shows strong signs of a better performance going forward.

In India, growth is expected to pick up post the election of a stable Central Government which has shown an inclination towards speedy reforms. Significant policy changes are anticipated in the near future. Government's focus on infrastructure development, increased foreign direct investment and more transparency in governance is likely to significantly increase business confidence in the country.

The 12th Five Year Plan (2012-17) has already laid special emphasis and set aside $1 trillion investment equivalent to 10% of GDP, vs. 7.5% in the 11th Plan, for infrastructure development. Apart from the significant enhancement in the proportion of the total spend (vs. the GDP), the power sector, also expected to experience a slightly higher proportion of the infrastructure spend (34% vs. 33% in the 11th 5-year plan). Thus, it continues to attract approximately one-third of the total projected investment in infrastructure and steel demand will continue to rise in India in the years to come.

Sectorial Investments Planned (5-year Plans)

Source: High Level Committee report on Financing Infrastructure

In addition, improving automobile and consumer durable sectors are expected to help raise the flat steel demand compared to last year, while long steel demand is expected to fare relatively better due to an uptick in construction activities and the planned infrastructure growth.

Budget 2014-15 announced a slew of measures to boost infrastructure investments, which will provide opportunities for infrastructure and construction companies. Innovative funding structures have also been unveiled to improve availability of funds. While the budget provisions are positive, addressing on-the-ground issues like clearances and land acquisition will be equally important for investments to take-off in the sector.

BUSINESS STRATEGY AND OUTLOOK

The Company is geared to meet the demands through a strategy that aims to overcome all challenges while making the most of every opportunity. Some of the major steel suppliers are planning to expand their existing facilities or set up new green field facilities. Your company has been contacted for RFQs for demand of structures for 1 Lac MT / annum. In addition, oil & gas companies such as Essar and Reliance plan to undertake expansion activities over the next 2-3 years. This has already generated a number of inward business inquiries for the Company.

AIML has become the most favoured supplier of steel bridges to Delhi Metro (DMRC). Management is confident of replicating similar success in Tier 2 cities like Chandigarh, Ludhiana, Amritsar, Jaipur, Lucknow, Ahmedabad and Nagpur. AIML is aggressively venturing into assembly and erection, and launching bridges as part of the total solution to steel super structure requirements. With huge current order books and encouraging positive customer response, management is also considering expansion plans.

INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEMS

The Company understands that with expanding operations and a constant evolution of technology, an effective internal control system is very important. AIML is committed to maintaining the highest standards of corporate governance and believes that a strong internal control framework is one of the most important pillars of corporate governance.

In-line with its philosophy and tenets, the Company has put in place adequate systems of internal control commensurate with its size and the nature of its operations. The systems have been designed to provide reasonable assurance with regard to recording and providing reliable financial and operational information complying with applicable statutes, safeguarding of assets, executing transactions with proper authorisations and ensuring compliance of corporate policies.

AIML ensures that internal audit is conducted by a reputed firm having considerable experience in the sector on a regular basis. These audit reports are submitted to the Audit Committee who reviews it and takes note of the remedial measures taken by the concerned departmental heads with reference to the audit observations. The Company has appointed M/s. Bhatia and Bhatia Company, Chartered Accountants as their internal auditors.

HUMAN RESOURCE AND INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

The Company believes mutual trust, harmony and unity of purpose are the key pillars of overall success of any organization. Keeping this philosophy in mind, AIML strives to maintain a harmonious relationship with its employees, as they are the active partners contributing to the growth and development of the organisation. The Company interacts with its employees on a regular basis through various events and provides them ample opportunity to discuss their issues and attempts to resolve them at the earliest.

Talent acquisition and retention remains the primary focus for the Company as the importance of good employees and their role in the overall growth of the organization is well established. AIML understands that to continue to maintain this relationship it is essential to align corporate goals with individual aspirations. With this objective in view, the Company provides its employees with various opportunities to upgrade their skills and knowledge. It further ensures that a proper growth career path for the employees is laid out to help them achieve their personal aspirations.

AIML's relations with its employees have been extremely cordial. As on June 30, 2014, the Company had a team of 362 employees (including contractual employees).

STATUTORY COMPLIANCE

The Company Secretary, as Compliance Officer, ensures compliance of the SEBI regulations and provisions of the Listing Agreement. Compliance certificates are obtained from various departments of the Company and the Board is informed of the same at every Board meeting.

CAUTIONARY STATEMENT

Statements in the Management Discussion and Analysis and in the Director's Report describing the Company's objectives, projections, estimates and expectations may be "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of applicable laws and regulations. Actual results may vary materially from those expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements.
